AUDREY MERULLA AND ELISE RECOUR
CONSTELLE HOME

A few years ago, when Elise was still working for a big lingerie brand, she teamed up with Audrey, who still remembers to this day, the tall, smiley blonde-haired woman who greeted her for her first interview. The two women, both full of energy and enthusiasm, were delighted to meet each other, and this is now the drive behind their brand. Audrey and Elise have both been sponsoring children for the French NGO Vision du Monde and endowment fund for around ten years, and they both care a great deal about inequality in the big textile-producing countries. Constelle was created in consideration of the global impact of purchasing and how to offer consumers products that are virtuous, unique and sustainable. Behind Constelle Home is the story of an encounter, and the story of these men and women on the other side of the world. "Bring people together, just like the stars that make up the same constellation, we all live on the same planet, under the same sky." "Constelle" means "with the stars" in Italian. A name that serves as a reminder that it is never too late for the stars to shine!
